

Perinatal Substance Use: Supportive Care for Infants, Mothers, and Staff

Wednesday, Aug. 29, 10 a.m. – 3:30 p.m. ET
Forum Conference and Events Center

11313 USA Parkway | Fishers, IN 46037 | 317-558-6060

Join your Indiana peer hospitals for a day focused exclusively on perinatal substance use and its significant impact on families, caregivers, and communities. We are honored to welcome some of the foremost experts from around the country to discuss innovative, supportive care approaches designed to improve outcomes for families and avoid staff burnout for those charged with caring for this vulnerable population.

Audience

CMOs, CNOs, maternal/child teams, neonatal teams, patient safety officers, risk managers, quality leaders, nursing caregivers and managers, case managers, care transition managers, social workers, and others responsible for patient safety. Teams are encouraged to attend.

Educational Objectives

At the end of the day, attendees will be able to:

- Apply practical strategies in their facilities to respond to the opiate epidemic within the maternal/child population
- Engage with local partners to identify strategies to address the perinatal substance use crisis
- Understand how a statewide approach to perinatal substance use can lead to infrastructure development for improved outcomes

Registration

Register by Aug. 22 at regonline.com/IHA2018PSU

Registration Fee: $50 per person, includes lunch

Payment Options: Payments can be made online by credit card. If paying by check, please indicate this payment option online and mail check by Aug. 22. Checks should be made payable to Indiana Hospital Association, 500 N. Meridian St., Suite 250, Indianapolis, IN 46204

Agenda

- 10 a.m.      Introductions
Indiana Hospital Association, Indiana State Department of Health
- 10:15 a.m.      A National Perspective on Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome:
The Vermont Oxford Network Quality Improvement Project
Madge Buus-Frank, D.N.P., APRN-BC, FAAN, Executive Vice President and Director of Quality Improvement and Education, Vermont Oxford Network Faculty, Geisel School of Medicine at Dartmouth and University of Vermont
- 11:30 a.m.      Lunch
- 12:30 p.m.      Substance Use Disorder in Pregnancy: Providing Comprehensive High-Risk
Obstetric Care
*Dr. Kelley Saia, Assistant Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Boston University School of Medicine, and Director of Project RESPECT, Substance Use Disorder Treatment

- 1:45 p.m.      Reflect, Renew, and Reconnect to Your Passion
Jane E. Manning, M.S.N., RN, Facilitator for IU Health's "Gift of CareGiving" Program
- Health care professionals are naturally wired through the head and the heart to care for others, often to the detriment of taking care of themselves. This can lead to a gradual lack of energy, spirit, and passion for the work we do. Manning will explore the concept of joy in work and how it impacts self, team, and patients as well as discuss how to create a plan for incorporating work/life balance into your career.
- 3 p.m.      Improving Outcomes: Call to Action
- 3:30 p.m.      Adjournment

Cancellation & Refund Policies

Refunds will not be issued after Aug. 22. Prior to that date, a refund of the registration fee less $25 will be processed for cancellations. Substitutions can be made at any time.

Speaker Bios

Madge E. Buus-Frank, D.N.P., APRN-BC, FAAN, is a board-certified neonatal nurse practitioner and serves as the executive vice president and director of quality improvement and education for Vermont Oxford Network (VON). Buus-Frank has been actively engaged in improving neonatal care for over three decades, practicing at the Children’s Hospital at Dartmouth. She is an internationally recognized educator and consultant. Prior to her role at VON, Buus-Frank collaborated on the design, development, and execution of innovative educational and clinical solutions for newborn intensive care units and health systems nationally and internationally. She was the founding editor-in-chief for Advances in Neonatal Care: The Official Journal of the National Association of Neonatal Nurses, a peer-reviewed publication dedicated to advancing the art and science of neonatal care, serving for five years in this capacity. She has been inducted as a Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing (FAAN) for her pioneering work in the field of neonatal care. Buus-Frank has a strong interest in improving the quality, safety, and value of newborn care and serves as the faculty leader for VON quality improvement collaboratives.

Jane E. Manning, M.S.N., RN, received a B.S.N. from DePauw University in 1971 and an M.S.N. from Ball State University in 1992. She recently retired from Indiana University Health Methodist Hospital after working there for nearly 46 years. Early in her career, she worked as a psychiatric nurse, later becoming the clinical instructor for the psychiatric area, providing orientation and staff development for the nursing and ancillary staff. Manning managed the nursing education department for 14 years, developing educational programs for all areas of the hospital. Subsequent roles included quality management, patient satisfaction/service excellence, nurse retention coordinator, and development officer for the Methodist Health Foundation. She facilitated IU Health’s “Gift of CareGiving” program for 15 years and still serves as a facilitator in her retirement.

Dr. Kelley Saia graduated from the University of Vermont College of Medicine in 2001 and completed her residency in obstetrics and gynecology at Boston Medical Center in 2005. Currently, Saia is an assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Boston University School of Medicine and director of Project RESPECT, Substance Use Disorder in Pregnancy Treatment Clinic at Boston Medical Center. She is certified by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology and the American Board of Addiction Medicine. Established in 2006, Project RESPECT is a unique, multidisciplinary program designed to stabilize and treat pregnant women with substance use disorders. Project RESPECT is a regional and national leader in clinical care for this vulnerable and growing population combining high-risk obstetrical care, psychiatric care, relapse prevention, social services, and peer support.
